Leadership: PHC Approach to Change

- Include and Listen
  - Team Meetings
- Identify the Problem
  - Data to the End User
- Innovate Together
  - Design Creativity
- Collaborate on Solutions
  - Work Across the Organizational Chart
- Use Data to Define Success
  - Let Go of Failure
Leadership: Decision Making

- Core values: collaboration, innovation, and excellence
- Empowerment: conversation and solution finding can happen at lower ends of the organizational chart
- Structure: a solid structure allows the final success of “great idea” to “that’s how we do it here”
Leadership: Engagement

PHC Staff and Provider Engagement Results:

• When looking at the 26 drivers of engagement that we measure, the highest score received was for employee’s pride in working for PHC.

• Employees also gave high scores for doing top notch work, working well together as a team, their role in the organization’s success, and trust with their immediate manager.
Leadership: Engagement

“...everyone is really here for the betterment of their patients, not for money or any other reason. They care about their patients.”

“The supervisors, managers, and directors of this clinic actively strive to improve how we deliver care to our patients. I am proud to be part of the improvement process.”

“PHC seems to value feedback on how to become better and that in itself is appreciated by employees.”

“We have a fabulous staff who go out of their way to serve our patients and are wonderful to work with.”
Leadership: Wellness
